The year 2025 marked a strong recovery of the Vietnamese stock market, providing a favorable foundation for capital market activities, particularly IPOs and listings. The IPO market witnessed significant momentum with four completed transactions, totaling approximately VND 40.7 trillion, alongside an increasing trend of listing transfers, contributing to improved market liquidity and quality. Meanwhile, the corporate bond market showed clear signs of recovery, with total issuance reaching approximately VND 550 trillion driven by the banking sector (35%) and residential real estate (37%), of which included 458 private placements and 33 public offerings in total.
