In 2024, the Company carried out its business and production activities under complex and unpredictable domestic market conditions, with intense competition in the steel industry, at certain times, slow market demand led to production halts (a total of 58 days of downtime throughout the year). However, under the leadership of the Board of Directors (BOD) and the efforts of the Executive Board and employees, the Company's business production results remained effective: Key targets related to production output, sales volume, revenue, profit, and employee wages all exceeded the planned targets; the Company achieved a profit of VND 14,07 billion; ensuring stable employee livelihoods.

The key achievements in business management and operations are as follows:

+ Management Activities: Strengthened cost management, implemented effective cost-saving measures, and ensured the full and timely payment of wages and benefits to employees; structured the organization, and employees at departments and workshops in efficient direction; secured adequate working capital for production and business activities; continuously reviewed, revised, and improved internal regulations and policies to enhance corporate governance, striving to achieve the Company's business and production goals in 2024.

+ Technical and Technological Enhancements:

- In 2024, with the goal of reducing costs and lowering product prices, the Company developed and implemented the "Design of renovation of hot air box for furnace heat exchange" to ensure continuous production and minimize downtime; conducted major repairs on furnace walls, furnace shoulders, and hot air chambers after a long time for using to ensure stable and continuous operation; designed CNC milling fixtures to improve grooving of roll shafts for steel products; manufactured protective water covers for the finishing rolling area and guiding chutes before Cutter 3.

- The Company optimized downtime usage during peak hours and product transitions to replace heat exchangers, preventing furnace overheating issues; replaced standby equipment; periodically maintained bearings in rough rolling stands, significantly reducing bearing failures and eliminating roll shaft breakage.

- The Company also replaced and exchanged all cast iron coke gas valves (which were prone to frequent failures, jamming, and gas leaks) with stainless steel valves, offering higher durability, lighter weight, and easier maintenance.

+ Product Quality Management:

- The Company remained committed to improving product quality to meet customer demands, ensuring more uniform bundle weights.

- In 2024, the Company produced TISCO, NSV, and VUC-branded rolled steel products. The products met quality standards and customer requirements for surface color, packaging, and bundle weight.

- Maintain good inspection, bending, and quick bending work at the 4-zone cold floor cutting machine to ensure that substandard intermediate frequency billet products are minimized from entering the market, stabilize the difference in weight between bundles, and the weight of bundles produced according to the minimum threshold in operation, creating product competitiveness, meeting customer requirements...

- Input billet control and product rapid bending control were performed regularly, ensuring that in 2024, no reports of broken steel products were received from the market.

+ Equipment Management:

- Equipment efficiency in 2024 reached 86,47%; significant efforts were made in maintenance and repair, with a structured maintenance schedule to reduce production downtime. Strengthen inspection and control during operation to detect early risks of failure and prevent incidents during production; master and improve equipment performance, ...

- Production teams closely follow the Company's production plan, strictly control the status of equipment on the production line and propose timely repair and maintenance plans for equipment. The Mechanical and Electrical Department and the Mechanical and Electrical Workshop have coordinated smoothly with the Rolling Workshop, proactively implementing equipment repair work interspersed with product changeover stops, coordinating with the Material Planning Department to ensure sufficient spare equipment in terms of quantity and quality. Strictly check the quantity and quality of spare equipment before being accepted into the warehouse.

- Develop a plan, schedule maintenance, maintenance and repair of equipment in a reasonable manner. Through planning in advance, regularly maintain good preparation of enough spare equipment and maintenance, maintenance and repair of equipment.

- Synchronously organize important spare equipment in advance, with potential risks that can easily lead to incidents for backup such as connectors, propeller shafts; Rolling mill motor... Regularly access the equipment status in the machine history to monitor. The operating workers have mastered the equipment, basically meeting the requirements for production. Maintain good industrial hygiene, ensuring safety for people and equipment.

Alongside these achievements, there were still some limitations in production:

- Production organization in some departments is not strict, work efficiency is not high; inspection and control work to detect the risk of incidents is sometimes not good, some minor incidents still occur:

+ About technology: There is still a subjective phenomenon in the production of single-rolled products, so there are unnecessary incidents such as the rolling stand displacement issue; burning rolling rack bearings in the fine rolling area; synchronous installation of QTB quenching pipes does not meet requirements; and incidents of steel extrusion on the technological line in the rough rolling and fine rolling areas still occur....

+ About equipment: There are still some incidents that take a lot of time, such as: broken rolling rack transmission shaft joints; broken small wheels, large wheels of bridge cranes; Incidents related to the cold floor such as broken Apron floor main shaft, broken bearing of the transfer car in the bar counting floor area...

- Although there have been many improvements in product quality management and process supervision, there is still customer feedback about product quality such as: short steel bundles, missing bars; and wavy products that must be returned...

- Bad debts from 2013 have not been completely resolved.
