4.16 Financial instrument

Financial assets

The classification of financial assets depends on the nature and purpose of the financial assets and is determined at the time of initial recognition. Financial assets of the Company include cash and cash equivalents, investments, trade receivables, other receivables, listed and unlisted financial instruments.

At the time of initial recognition, financial assets are determined at cost plus any costs directly acquisition, issuance of such financial assets.

Financial liabilities

The classification of financial liabilities depends on the nature and purpose of the financial liabilities and is determined at the time of initial recognition. Financial liabilities of the Company include loans and borrowings, trade payables and other payables.

At the time of initial recognition, except liabilities related to finance lease purchase and convertible bonds are recognized at amortized cost, financial liabilities are determined at cost less costs directly issuance of such financial liabilities.

Amortization is measured at the initial recognition of the financial liabilities less any principal repayments, plus or minus any accumulated amortizations calculated using the effective interest method of the difference between initial recognition and maturity, less any deductions (directly or through the use of an allowance account) for impairment or irrevocable.

The effective interest method is a method that calculates the amortized value of one or a group of financial liabilities and allocates interest income or interest expenses in the relevant year. The effective interest rate is the rate that discounts the estimated future cash flows to be paid or received over the expected life of the financial instrument or, if necessary, back to its present carrying amount of net financial liabilities.

Equity instruments

Equity instrument is a contract that demonstrates a residual interest in the assets of the Company after deducting all obligations.

Offsetting of financial instruments

The financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is presented on the balance sheet, and if only the Company:

- Has the legal right to offset the values were recognized; and
- To offset on a basis or to realize the asset and pay the liability simultaneously.

7. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Company has financial assets such as cash and cash equivalent, trade receivables, other receivables, unlisted financial instruments. The Company's financial liabilities comprise loans and borrowings, trade payables, accrued expenses payable and other payables. The main purpose of these financial liabilities is to finance the Company's operations.

The Company is exposed to market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk.

Risk management is an essential activity for the Company's entire business operations. The Company has established a control system to ensure a reasonable balance between the costs incurred when risks arise and the costs of managing those risks. The Board of Directors continuously monitors the risk management process to maintain an appropriate balance between risks and risk controls.

The Board of Directors reviews and unanimously approves the implementation of management policies for the aforementioned risks as follows:

i. Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk include interest rate risk, foreign currency risk and other price risk, such as share price risk.

Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. Market risk for changes in interest rates of the Company primarily correlates to cash and loans of the Company.

The Company manages interest rate risk by analyzing the competitive situation in the market to acquire beneficial interest for Company's purposes, but still remain within the limits of their risk management.

ii. Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that counterparty will not meet its obligations under a financial instrument or customer contract, leading to a financial loss. The Company is exposed to credit risk from its operating activities (primarily for trade receivables) and from its financing activities, including deposits with banks and other financial instruments.

Trade receivables

Outstanding customer receivables are regularly monitored. The requirement for impairment is analyzed at each reporting date on an individual basis for major clients. The Company seeks to maintain strict control over its outstanding receivables and has a credit control personnel to minimize credit risk. In the view of the aforementioned and the fact that the Company's trade receivables relate to a large number of diversified customers, there is no significant concentration of credit risk.

Bank deposits

The Company's bank balances are mainly maintained with well-known banks in Vietnam. Credit risk from balances with banks is managed by the Company's treasury department in accordance with the Company's policy. The Company's maximum exposure to credit risk for the components of the balance sheet at each reporting dates are the carrying amounts as illustrated in Note 5.1. The Company evaluates the concentration of credit risk in respect to bank deposit is as low.

iii. Liquidity risk

The liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will encounter difficulty in meeting financial obligation due to shortage of funds. The Company's exposure to liquidity risk arises primarily from mismatches of maturities of financial assets and liabilities.

The Company monitors its liquidity risk by maintain a level of cash and cash equivalents and bank loans deemed adequate by management to finance the Company's operations and to mitigate the effects of fluctuations in cash flows.

The table below summarizes the maturity profile of the Company's financial liabilities based on contractual undiscounted payments:

The fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities is reflected by value that financial instrument can be converted in present transaction between parties, except for being sold or liquidated compulsorily.

The Company used below methods and assumptions in estimating the fair value for disclosure purposes only:

- The fair value of cash on hand and cash at banks, trade payables, accrued expense payable, other payables is presented by their carrying amount because these instruments are short-term.
- The fair value of trade and other receivables is estimated based on information about debt repayment of each customer or each object and the Company estimates the provision for irrecoverable debts. The Company evaluates that fair value of these receivables minus the provision is not materially different from their carrying amount at year-end.
- The fair value of loans that is not reliably redetermined due to lack of a market that has high liquidity for these loans is presented by carrying amount.

8. SEGMENT REPORTING

Segment reporting is not presented in the financial statements because the Board of Directors has evaluated and concluded that the Company does not have more than one reportable segment (in terms of both business lines and geographical areas) as required by the Accounting Standards. The Company is currently operating primarily in a single business segment, which is trading, and all of its products are consumed within a single geographical area is Vietnam. ty An NA NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
