The Bank also sells debts to other debt trading companies as per Circular No. 09/2015/TT-NHNN. The difference between the selling price and book value of these debts is amortized into annual business results over a maximum of 10 years, aligning with Resolution No. 42/2017/QH14. Provisions for unrecovered sold debts (including VAMC and other debt sales) are based on the Bank's financial capacity and its approved restructuring plan through 2030, with regular progress reports submitted to the State Bank.

Provisions for these sold but unrecovered debts (including VAMC debts and debts from other debt trading companies) are made based on the Bank's financial capacity according to the roadmap established until 2030 in the restructuring plan approved by competent authorities. The Bank periodically reports to the State Bank on the progress of implementation as per the approved restructuring plan.

4.8. Investment securities

4.8.1. Classification

Investment securities include available-for-sale investment securities and held-to-maturity investment securities. The Bank initially recognizes investment securities at cost and classifies investment securities into proper categories at purchase date. According to Official Letter No. 2601/NHNN-TCKT dated 14 April 2009 by the SBV, for investment securities, the Bank is allowed to reclassify maximum of one time after initial recognition.

Held-to-maturity investment securities

Held-to-maturity investment securities are debt securities with fixed maturities and fixed or determinable payments, where the Bank has positive intention and ability to hold until maturity.

Available-for-sale investment securities

Available-for-sale investment securities are debt securities which are held for an indefinite period and may be sold at any time.

4.8.2. Recognition

The Bank recognizes investment securities on the date that it acquires substantial all the risks and rewards of ownership of these securities.

4.8.3. Measurement

Debt securities are initially stated at cost, including transaction costs and other directly attributable costs. They are subsequently recognized at amortized cost (affected by premium/discount amortization) less provision for credit risk and diminution. Premium and discounts arising from purchases of debt securities are amortized to the separate income statement on a straight-line basis from the acquisition date to the maturity date.

Post-acquisition interest income of available-for-sale debt securities and held-to-maturity debt securities is recognized in the separate income statement on an accrual basis. The accrued interest before the Bank purchases debt securities will be deducted from the value of the accrued interest account when received.

Provision for diminution in value of securities is made when the carrying value is higher than the market value in compliance with Circular No. 48/2019/TT-BTC dated 08 August 2019 ("Circular 48"), as amended and supplemented by Circular No. 24/2022/TT-BTC dated 07 April 2022 ("Circular 24") issued by the Ministry of Finance. Provision for diminution is recognized in the "Net gain/(loss) from investment securities" item of the separate income statement.

For Government bonds, Government-guaranteed bonds and municipal bonds, the Bank does not make provisions for these investments.

For corporate bonds that are listed, registered for transactions, the market price of bonds is the latest transaction price at the Stock Exchange within 10 days to the balance sheet date. If there is no transaction within 10 days to the balance sheet date, no provision is calculated for these investments.

The Bank is required to make provision for credit risk for corporate bonds (including bonds issued by other CIs) which have not yet been listed on stock exchanges or have not yet been registered for trading on the UPCoM trading system under Circular 31 and Decree 86 as described in Note 4.6.

Other unlisted debt securities (excluding unlisted corporate bonds mentioned above) are stated at cost less provision for diminution in value determined by market value of securities. If there is no market value or market value cannot be determined reliably, these securities will be recognized at their carrying amount.

Provision for investment securities will be reversed when a subsequent increase in the recoverable amount of the investment securities is due to an objective event occurring after the provision is recognized. Provision is reversed only up to the carrying amount of these securities before provision has been made.

4.8.4. De-recognition

Investment securities are derecognized when the contractual rights to the cash flows from these securities expired or when the substantial risks and rewards of ownership of these securities have been transferred.

4.9. Special Bonds Issued by VAMC

Special bonds issued by VAMC are valued papers with a specific term, issued by VAMC to purchase non-performing loans from the Bank, and are recognized as held-to-maturity debt securities.

These special bonds are recorded at par value on the transaction date and are reflected at par value less specific provisions during the holding period.

The par value of special bonds corresponds to the outstanding principal balance of the non-performing loan after deducting any unused specific provisions already made for that non-performing loan.

Specific provisions for special bonds are made based on the Bank's financial capacity up to the year 2030, according to the restructuring plan approved by competent authorities. The Bank periodically reports its progress to the State Bank.

4.10. Investments in subsidiaries

Subsidiaries are entities that fall in one of the followings:

- ▶ The Bank or the Bank and its related parties hold more than 50% of charter capital or more than 50% share capital with voting rights in that entity;
- ▶ The Bank has the power, directly or indirectly, to appoint most of or all of the members of the Board of Directors, the Members' Council or General Director of the entity;
- ▶ The Bank has the power to amend, supplement to the entity's charter;

Provisions for impairment of investments in subsidiaries are made separately for each investment with losses and reviewed at the end of the accounting period. According to Circular 48 and Circular 24, the Bank makes provisions for investments in subsidiaries if there is concrete evidence of impairment of these investments as of the end of the accounting period. Increases or decreases in the provision balance are accounted for in the "Operating expenses" item on the separate income statement.

4.11. Other long-term investments

Other long-term investments represent investments in other entities in which the Bank holds less than or equal to 11% of voting rights. In cases where the shares of the invested entities are registered for trading on the Unlisted Public Company Market (UPCoM), provisions for impairment are made when the actual market price, determined as the average reference price over the 30 consecutive trading days before the financial statement date as announced by the Stock Exchange, is lower than the cost of the investment. If the shares of the joint-stock company registered for trading on the UPCoM have no transactions within 30 days before the financial statement date, the Bank determines the provision level for each investment according to the regulations similar to the cases of other investments below.

Accordingly, at the time of preparing the separate financial statements and/or at the end of the Bank's fiscal year, if the investments in economic organizations have decreased in value compared to the investment value, the Bank makes provisions for these investments according to Clause 2, Article 5 of Circular 48.

4.11. Other long-term investments (continued)

Based on the separate financial statements of the invested economic organization prepared at the same time as the Bank's separate financial statements, provisions for each unlisted investment or registered on the UPCoM are calculated according to the following formula:

4.22. Principles and methods for recognizing corporate income tax and corporate income tax expenses (continued)

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets must be reassessed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow the benefit of part or all of that deferred tax assets to be utilized. The unrecognized deferred tax assets will be reassessed at each reporting date and recognized to the extent that it has become probable future taxable profit will allow the deferred tax asset to be utilized.

The deferred tax is charged or credited in the income statement except when it relates to items recognized directly to equity, in which case the deferred tax is also dealt with in equity.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and when they relate to income taxes levied by the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority and the Company intends to settle its current tax assets and liabilities on a net basis.

The tax amounts payable to the State budget will be finalized with the tax office. Differences between the tax amounts payable specified in the book and the tax amounts under finalization will be adjusted when the tax finalization has been issued by the tax office.

4.23. Offset

Financial assets and liabilities can only be offset and presented at their net value in the separate statement of financial position when the Bank has a legally enforceable right to offset them and intends to settle both simultaneously or realize the assets and settle the liabilities concurrently.

4.24. Derivatives

The Bank engages in foreign exchange forward contracts, swap contracts, and futures contracts to enable customers to manage, adjust, or mitigate foreign exchange risk or other market risks, as well as to serve the Bank's business objectives.

Foreign currency forward contracts

Foreign currency forward contracts are agreements to buy or sell a specific currency at a predetermined exchange rate on a future date, settled in cash. These contracts are initially recorded at their nominal value on the transaction date and subsequently revalued periodically. The difference arising from this revaluation is recorded in the "Foreign Exchange Differences" item within "Owners' Equity" and transferred to the separate income statement at the end of the accounting period.

Currency Swap Contracts

Currency swap contracts are commitments that include a commitment to buy and a commitment to sell the same amount of one currency for another at exchange rates determined at the time of the transaction, with different settlement dates for the two commitments. The premium or discount resulting from the difference between the spot exchange rate on the effective date of the contract and the forward rate will be recognized immediately on the effective date of the contract as an asset if positive or a liability if negative on the separate financial statements. This difference will be amortized on a straight-line basis into the separate income statement over the term of the contract.

Current Corporate Income Tax

The current corporate income tax ("CIT") payable is determined based on the taxable income for the current period. Taxable income differs from the income reported in the separate income statement because taxable income excludes income items that are taxable or deductible in different periods due to differences between the Bank's accounting policies and current tax regulations, and it also excludes items that are non-taxable or non-deductible for tax purposes. The Bank's current corporate income tax payable is calculated at the tax rates that have been enacted by the end of the accounting period.

The Bank's tax returns are subject to examination by tax authorities. As the application of tax laws and regulations can be interpreted in various ways, the tax amounts presented in the separate financial statements may be subject to changes according to the final decision of the tax authorities.

The current corporate income tax rate of the Bank is 20% (2024: 20%).

35. RISK MANAGEMENT POLICIES FOR FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

This section provides details on the risks that the Bank may encounter related to financial instruments and describes in detail the policies and methods the Bank uses to control these risks. The most significant financial risks that the Bank may face related to financial instruments include:

- Credit risk;
- Market risk;
- Liquidity risk.

35.1. Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk that a party involved in a financial instrument or contract, such as a customer, fails to fulfill their obligations, resulting in financial loss. Credit risk arises from lending and guaranteeing activities in various forms.

The Bank also faces other credit risks arising from investments in debt securities and other risks in the Bank's trading activities ('transaction risk'), including non-equity trading portfolio assets, derivatives, and settlement balances with counterparties.

The Bank maintains a credit risk management policy that ensures the following fundamental principles: establishing an appropriate credit risk management environment; operating under a sound credit granting process; maintaining an appropriate credit administration, measurement, and monitoring process; and ensuring adequate control over credit risk.

35.2. Market risk

Market risk is the risk of adverse fluctuations and changes in market risk factors (including interest rates, exchange rates, securities prices, and commodity prices on the market, etc.) that negatively impact the Bank's income and capital. Market risk arises from open positions in interest rates, currency products, and equity instruments, all of which are affected by general market movements and specific market changes, as well as changes in the volatility of market prices such as interest rate risk, currency risk, and other price risks.

35. RISK MANAGEMENT POLICIES FOR FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS (continued)35.2. Market risk (continued)*35.2.1. Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk arises when there is a difference of term in repricing of interest rate between assets and liabilities. All credit activities, mobilization activities, investment activities of the Bank arise interest rate risk.

On the basis of the state of "interest rate sensitivity" according to periodic changes in interest rates, the items which are assets, equity and off-balance sheet assets are classified by terms into the table "interest gap" of the Bank.

Interest rate repricing terms for items with fixed interest rates are the remaining period until maturity date of assets, as for floating interest rates are the remaining period until the nearest repricing date.

The followings assumptions and conditions are applied when constructing "interest gap" table:

- ▶ Cash and gold, capital contribution, long-term investments, fixed assets, other assets and other liabilities are classified as "Non-sensitive to interest rate" items;
- ▶ The interest rate repricing terms for trading securities and investment securities are determined based on the remaining contractual maturity at the date of the separate financial statements if such securities have a fixed interest rate, or based on the interest rate repricing terms if such securities have a floating interest rate;
- ▶ The interest rate repricing terms for trading securities and investment securities are determined based on the remaining contractual maturity at the date of the separate financial statements if such securities have a fixed interest rate, or based on the interest rate repricing terms if such securities have a floating interest rate;
- ▶ The interest rate repricing terms for deposits and loans to the SBV and other CIs; derivative financial instruments and other financial assets and liabilities; loans to customers; deposits and borrowings from the Government and SBV; deposits and borrowings from other CIs; and deposits from customers are determined as follows:
 - For items with a fixed interest rate throughout the term of the contract: the actual interest rate repricing term is based on the actual maturity date calculated from the date of the separate financial statements;
 - For items with a floating interest rate: the actual interest rate repricing term is based on the most recent interest rate repricing term calculated from the date of the separate financial statements;
 - For demand deposits: the interest rate repricing term will correspond to the stability of the demand deposit portfolio over time, based on the results of analyzing the behavior of this portfolio in a moderately stressful scenario;
- ▶ The interest rate repricing term for the issuance of securities is based on the contractual payment/maturity period of each type of security if the security has a fixed interest rate or based on the contractual interest rate repricing terms if it is a floating rate.

35.2.2. Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk that the value of financial instruments fluctuates due to exchange rate movements. The Bank was established and operates in Vietnam with the Vietnamese Dong as its functional currency. The Bank's primary transaction currency is also the Vietnamese Dong. The Bank's loans and advances to customers are mainly in Vietnamese Dong and US Dollars. However, some of the Bank's other assets are in foreign currencies other than Vietnamese Dong and US Dollars. The Bank has established position limits for each currency. Currency positions are monitored daily, and hedging strategies are used by the Bank to ensure that currency positions are maintained within the established limits.

Exchange rates of significant foreign currencies against VND as at the reporting date are presented at Note 37.

35. RISK MANAGEMENT POLICIES FOR FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS (continued)

35.2.3. Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Bank may be unable to fulfill its payment obligations related to financial liabilities when they become due, particularly in the absence of alternative capital sources when customers withdraw funds. The consequences could include the Bank's inability to pay depositors or meet its lending commitments. The Bank manages liquidity risk through the following strategies:

- ▶ Controlling the capital mobilization and loan on daily basis;
- ▶ Maintaining investment portfolio securities that are easily convertible to cash;
- ▶ Controlling liquidity indices in the financial status report in compliance with the regulations of the State Bank of Vietnam.

The maturity of assets and liabilities represents the remaining term of the assets and liabilities from the time of preparing the financial statements until the final payment as stipulated in the contract or issuance terms.

The following assumptions and conditions are applied in analyzing the maturity of the Bank's assets and liabilities:

- ▶ Balances with the SBV are classified as demand deposits, including compulsory deposits. The level of compulsory deposits depends on the composition and terms of the Bank's deposits from customers;
- ▶ The maturity term of trading securities and investment securities is based on their individual maturity dates. Government securities, although classified as long-term, are highly liquid and can be easily converted to cash. The maturity of equity securities in subsidiaries is determined by the business plan;
- ▶ The maturity term of deposits and loans to other CIs, as well as loans to customers, is based on contractual maturity dates. However, actual maturity dates may vary due to loan extensions or prepayments;
- ▶ Equity investments are generally considered to have a maturity of more than five (5) years due to their indefinite nature;
- ▶ The maturity terms of deposits and borrowings from other CIs, deposits from customers, borrowings from Government and the SBC and other assets are determined based on their specific characteristics or contractual terms. The maturity term of demand deposits is based on customer behavior analysis, while the maturity term of term deposits and loans is based on contractual maturity dates;
- ▶ The maturity term of fixed assets is determined by their remaining useful life;
- ▶ The maturity term of issued securities is based on their individual maturity dates;
- ▶ The maturity term of other liabilities is classified based on their actual individual maturity dates.
